

Table of RGB Label Colors in Gmail

Label Colors in Gmail, RGB Values, 24 Choices

The Gmail label color palette has four rows and six columns. The color swatches appear as small circles with a lower-case letter “a” (alpha) displayed on the different background color of each swatch. The foreground text colors vary according to the different background colors. At the time of this writing there are no text labels for the color swatches, so when using a screen reader, one only hears the red, green, and blue (RGB) color values. Mouse users will notice on mouseover a tooltip with the RGB values that visually appears.

In this table, included with the additional lesson documentation, the first column contains the suggested background color for the labels, which were provided by Chat GPT artificial intelligence. The second column contains the RGB values for that color from the Gmail color palette. Please note that the reproduction of color can vary on different screens, so the suggested color names provided in this lesson may slightly differ for different viewers.
